

VACANCY

CONFERENCE DELEGATE SALES EXECUTIVE - SINGAPORE

The Opportunity

This is your opportunity to join an internationally renowned commercial conference company and be a vital part of its launch team in Asia. You will be selling Energy Exchange & World Refining Association conferences and exhibitions. With a strong portfolio of events already in place, your goal is to make sure we have the right delegates attending.

This is a telesales role and we are looking for candidates with outstanding telephone and sales skills. You love to smash targets and want to work in an open and dynamic culture. You are confident and comfortable pitching to senior level executives and have an excellent track record.

The next steps

To be successful, you'll require exceptional drive, commitment and tenacity, the ability to influence at all levels within business and truly love sales.

If you think you have what it takes to succeed here, and you're motivated by the opportunity to earn attractive commission, apply now. Asian language skills, passion for oil & gas and natural resources and previous conference sales experience is an advantage.

To apply and be part of a growing and dynamic team please contact:
